SHIP DOCKS WITH A BANG

Dover was treated to a spectacular fireworks display to mark the arrival of a cruise liner. It is seen as another step forward in the town's establishment as a major tourist port. FULL STORY ON PAGE 2

HUNDREDS of people have attended special meetings across the district to discuss the future of NHS services... and concerns over Buckland Hospital topped the list.

But despite strong rumours that the hospital will close in five years, health chiefs refused to be drawn on a decision over its long-term future.

The hospital has closed two wards this year and the minor injury unit was moved to Pencester Surgery in the town centre.

While Buckland retains its renal, maternity and neuro unit, it was clear that visitors to the meetings had grave concerns after the closure of Ramsey and Montgomery wards for the elderly.

The East Kent Hospitals Trust runs the hospital, but the roadshows were organised by the Eastern and Coastal Kent Primary Care Trust – which oversees GPs, dentists and acute hospital services like spending on cancer treatment.

The idea was to let members of the community voice their opinions and find out what the PCT is doing in their area.

First, people were given the chance to talk with NHS staff and then they were able to question PCT chief executive Ann Sutton and her management team.

Barbara Sturgeon, former Radio Kent presenter, chaired the discussion and Buckland Hospital remained the primary concern throughout.

Cllr Reg Hansell, vice-chairman of Eythorne Parish Council, said that nurses at Buckland saved his life when an X-ray revealed he had a broken back.

He told the gathering at the town hall last week: "Dover needs a hospital of its own. The

Cottage will host eco art exhibition

■ BY MARIJKE COX

A NEW exhibition that will highlight a "sense of place" in south-east Kent is being opened in St Margaret's Bay.

Artist Edda Venusia Jones, a photographer who has lived in Dover for the past two years, has been commissioned by the St Margaret's Bay Trust to produce the series of work.

She said: "The main focus of the exhibition is the notion that every place has a unique feeling to it.

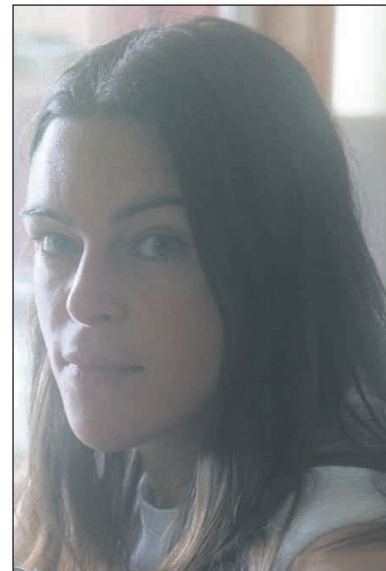

"Either a place is a one-off, totally unmistakable and would make you say 'I couldn't be anywhere else but here', or a place is utterly devoid of any geographical or cultural reference, which could provoke the question 'Where am I?'.

"I'd like people to take away the feeling of heightened awareness of what is really around."

Real Health Ventures, which is working with the trust, has let Edda stay in nearby Carmel Cottage, in the coastal village of St Margaret's Bay.

The exhibition will run in two places and Edda is using a creative way of linking them. She said: "The display is going to be in the St Margaret's Museum and the cottage.

"I've spent the last couple of months here and have found the most weird and wonderful stuff down on the beach. A lot of flotsam and jetsam will be used to make the trail between the two exhibition venues.

RECYCLING: Artist Edda Venusia Jones is using materials that she found on the beach

"An important part of this is to show people the relevance of found objects in an environmental concept."

Recycling and environmental concerns are running themes of the presentation. St Margaret's Museum is in the Pine Gardens, which is the home of the Pines Calyx, one of Europe's most energy-efficient commercial buildings.

The exhibition runs for six weeks and starts on Saturday, October 20, with an opening event from 5-8pm.

PCT should apply for funds so that it can get the hospital it deserves".

In response, Ms Sutton said: "There is a fund for development of community hospitals and the Dover Project looked in detail at services that are needed.

"Work is being done to look at things such as development and refurbishment – we are aware this is an issue"

Travelling to health facilities in other parts of Kent is also a big concern of Mr Hansell.

He said: "Many villages in the area are deprived, and residents don't always have cars.

"To visit a hospital in Ashford or Margate can sometimes take a whole day and for every mile travelled the chance of death is increased.

"Dover is an old miners' town and many ex-colliery workers have respiratory problems. For them to travel so far for treatment is a risk to their health."

Intermediate care, infection rates and dental provision were other issues brought up at the meeting and the PCT invited residents to speak to them after the open forum about particular issues that affected them.

Many left the meeting still unclear about the future for Buckland and the EKHT, which also runs the William Harvey at Ashford, the QEQM at Margate, and Kent and Canterbury at Canterbury. It has closed more than 250 beds across the area in two years and also introduced a non-replacement policy for 500 staff posts.

Many of the staff at the Buckland have made it clear they will not travel to Canterbury or Ashford if the hospital were to close.

Norwegian cruise liner launches at port with a bang

SKIES over Dover lit up on Friday night for the arrival of Norwegian Gem, which marked a big step forward in the growth of Dover cruise port.

Ruby Wax launched the Fireworks Fantasia above the cruise ship and residents were able to watch the display from the promenade, where a series of entertainment took place.

The new Norwegian Cruise Line ship boasts an array of luxurious facilities ranging from a four-lane 10-pin bowling alley to a rock-climbing wall.

Celebrations in Dover were one of a number of inaugural events taking place in Europe, Boston and New York.

Norwegian Jewel, the sister ship of the Gem, will be based in Dover next summer, offering a programme of 13 departures and helping to increase the cruise port's business in 2008.

More than 140 calls are expected at the two cruise terminals next year – almost 10 per cent more than in 2007 and 50 per cent more than in 2002.

A boost in tourist trade is expected with the rise in cruise calls.

Casting along our coast is no blunder

Film family searching for top brass

EXCLUSIVE

BY MARIJKE COX

FILM director Bill Maloney has been cutting something of a name for himself in recent years.

His movie Lunatic, a study of the downmarket side of south-east London life, has made ripples in the industry, but it is the method of casting that has raised as many eyebrows.

Eschewing the use of trained actors, he chooses instead to use 'real' people from working-class backgrounds whom he meets in his life.

And Maloney has now turned his attention to the streets of Deal as the team look to cast for their new film The Brass.

Together with wife Maria (producer) and daughter Regan (director of photography), the family have been giving people on the east Kent coast the chance to shine on screen.

GOOD DEAL: Bill Maloney and producer wife Maria are looking for the cast for their next film

In the meantime, though, there is the small matter of their next film, The Blunderers, which is due to be released at Christmas.

A black comedy based partly on the true story of their recovering drug-addict friend, it features one of Maloney's old schoolfriends playing a central character.

He said: "While I was making the film a friend of mine called Stephen Hodge came to me – he wanted me to help him get off crack cocaine. I was staying in my chalet near Whitstable making the film and realised the only way I could do it was to incorporate him into it.

"People started saying that we were very funny together, so it ended up being The Blunderers, with me playing one part and Steve the other".

The film is about a middle-aged recovering crack-cocaine addict and a 51-year-old recuperating alcoholic living in a chalet near Whitstable.

"All they've got to get by in life is their petty street criminality. Whatever they do they seem to mess it up, hence the name," said Maloney.

Tourist centre enjoys access

AN EXCITING tourism boost is on the horizon as Dover Visitor Information Centre is recognised as an official Enjoy England partner.

The programme is run by Visit Britain for centres across the country, to promote first-class customer service.

Cllr Frederick Scales, Cabinet Member for Economy and Special Projects, said: "This is great news and is an important recognition of the work carried out by VIC staff and of the importance of Dover as a key tourism location."

Visitor Information Centres benefit from access to national and international marketing, business toolkits, sales opportunities and training.

To be considered as a partner centres must be at a key location and meet criteria including having an excess of 10,000 annual enquiries. Successful VICs must also show an effective use of public funds to benefit the local visitor economy.

Mr Scales said: "We look forward to working with the partnership to continue to work to promote excellence and world-class service."

Although not usually open to the public, everyone is invited to step inside on this special occasion and get the chance to see the listed building for free and take a journey in to the world of travel.

Dazzle

Tour and Cruise Operators will be there to dazzle people with tales of far-flung and exotic places and a selection of travel companies will be holding short presentations in the "Travelux Presents" marquee. A glass of champagne or coffee and a light snack will be available while taking it all in.

In the main exhibition The Casablanca Steps, a 1920's band, will take to the main stage in a fun and entertaining performance and a grand prize draw will be held in aid of the RNLI.

Tickets are available all day and amazing prizes including a week for two in Lefkada, mini cruise and holiday vouchers will be on offer.

Drunken yob who spat at station guard is 'sorry'

ANGRY Steven Watters, 24, spat in a ticket collector's face when he stopped his partner for travelling without paying.

Watters and girlfriend Katie Watson arrived on the last train from Canterbury East to Dover Priory on February 5.

They had been out celebrating her birthday in the city before heading home to Dover – both had been drinking.

The pair got to the barrier and Watters, of Khartoum Square, Whitfield, had a valid ticket but his girlfriend had lost hers.

When she was stopped Watters intervened, Folkestone magistrates were told.

Watters pleaded guilty to assaulting ticket collector Martin Smith by spitting at him and throwing a traffic cone at his head.

Peter Holt, prosecuting, said: "At around midnight the couple got off the train and were asked for their tickets. His girlfriend said they going to buy them but Watters started abusing Mr Smith and spat in his face.

"They got out onto the station forecourt and Watters threw a traffic cone at Mr Smith striking him a glancing blow on the head. He fell to the ground but wasn't injured."

Watters ran off but was later arrested and Mr Smith picked him out in a line up.

Leanne James, defending, said Watters heard his girlfriend screaming. They were both under the influence of alcohol, and Mr Smith was shouting at him about a ticket.

She said: "He spat in Mr Smith's face. He realises it was wrong and disrespectful and apologises."

Miss James claimed Watters threw the cone at the ticket collector because he made a derogatory remark about his mother.

Sentencing was adjourned until October 25.

Council advice goes mobile

A ROADSHOW offering advice on a range of services is on tour.

The Mobile Gateway has been developed by Kent County Council with local and district councils.

It will bring advice to people that would normally only be provided at council offices, such as on housing, council tax and social care.

KCC leader, Paul Carter, said: "The new Mobile Gateway will ensure that the Gateway partnership can reach rural or hard to reach communities.

"It will provide specific support for issues in the community and enhance existing out-reach work," he said.

"I am confident that the Mobile Gateway will create a better experience for people wishing to access public and voluntary services."

FAST CARS IN THE FOREST

FOR drivers who want to get involved in rallying, Maidstone has earned itself a name as a great starting point.

Whether you want a career behind the wheel or just a bit of fun, the Hughes Rally gives enthusiasts the chance to race in cars built up until 1980.

Fan Thomas Grant said: "If you want to go rallying inexpensively, this is probably the best way to go.

"The whole event appeared to be carried out in a fun atmosphere. Some crews definitely took the tests very seriously. Other crews just seemed to be there to complete the rally in a more relaxed manner."

Cars are timed across sections in forests and roads between Sevenoaks and Maidstone and this year Thomas, who is just 15, was there to film the action.

His short films show some of the best and worst bits of the event and can be viewed at Yourkenttv.co.uk in the community section.

Tears as sub-post offices face the axe

ANGER and upset has greeted the news of proposed closures of Shepway's sub-post offices.

Offices throughout the district are facing closure because of controversial Government-imposed targets.

A public consultation on the potential closures, lasting six weeks, began last week.

The post offices at Littlestone, Seabrook, Shorncliffe and Enbrook Valley are all under threat of closure.

The Saltwood post office near Hythe has already closed its doors.

Shepway District Council leader Robert Bliss is appalled at the proposed closures.

"Post offices can be the lifeblood of smaller communities and to close them can be devastating to local people, especially those who are elderly or do not have cars," he said.

Cllr Bliss felt that a message needed to be sent to the Government.

■ BY ROB LIVINGSTONE

"We will obviously be gathering evidence for a more informed response but I was so angered by the proposals that I wanted to let the Government know exactly what this council thought.

"We need to work with our local communities and find out how many people use their local post office, and things like car ownership and how well the areas are served by public transport," he said.

"It is essential to gather this information and to present the strongest possible case if we want to be taken seriously."

Mr B Sharma, postmaster at the Shorncliffe office, said: "It's nonsense – they shouldn't close any post offices."

The sub-post office is facing extinction, said Mr Sharma, "this is the death knell of the post office in England as we know it".

"It won't be the death of the local community straight away – it will come in small increments."

"We will lose a lot of customers," said Mr M Jeganaghan, who owns of the shop that houses the Enbrook Valley sub-post office

"It will be a large inconvenience to the local people.

"I'm angry, the customers I have had today are angry," he said.

"I have been told it is because we don't provide TV licences anymore."

Jenny Kersey, a shop worker in [shop name], said the effect on the customers had been devastating.

"They are all mostly elderly people, coming in just to get their pensions.

"To some of them we are the only people they see all day, they come in to have a gossip, then they go and sit at home all day.

"They're very upset; we have had some tears this morning."

The Crown set to rule once again

GASTROPUB: There are rumours that the Crown in the village of Stone-in-Oxney is to return as a restaurant

ONE year on from the closure of the Crown in Stone-in-Oxney, residents of the village have been left bewildered by rumours that the site of the pub may be converted into a restaurant.

The closure of a rural pub in the sleepy village had left the community bereft of a valued public venue, and left rural pub-lovers arguing over who was to blame for the pub's closure.

With accusation and counter-accusation leading to a vicious letter writing campaign in the Marsh Mash, the Campaign for Real Ale's magazine, the legacy of the pub looked to be one of bitterness.

Now the village is full of stories about what the former pub is to become.

At the other end of the village, in the Ferry Inn, barmaid Julie Gorham, was philosophical about the possibility of a change in the pub's traditional purpose.

"I've heard different stories about how it's going to be more of a restaurant than a drinking pub," said Julie.

"I'd go down there to see what it was like;

■ BY ROB LIVINGSTONE

there would probably be a honeymoon period where people would see what had happened to it."

"If it opens again it will be interesting to see what happens," she said.

Julie was more concerned with what would happen if the pub reopened.

"I don't know what it would do to our business as half the people who drink in here live up that end of the village, if it's going to be a food pub you would not be able tell what would happen."

On the subject of the closure of the Crown Julie was sympathetic with the former owners.

She said: "I was disappointed because I was friends with the staff and the people who owned it."

"I played on the women's dart team, and it was a shame the owners didn't want to carry on with it, as the team was doing really well, but talking to them I could understand their reasons why they had to do it."

At present the only plans submitted the planning authority have been to change the pub into a private dwelling.

Mini train loving lad's great tribute film

THE Best Little Railway in the World, filmed and produced by Cameron Browne, aged 12.

Built in the 1920s it opened on July 16, 1927, the Romney, Hythe and Dymchurch Railway was the dream of millionaire racing drivers Capt JEP Howey and Count Louis Zborowski.

All the 10 original locomotives remain in service, covering thousands of miles each year.

The fleet, already one of the largest of any 15-inch railway in Britain, was expanded in 1976 with the arrival of German-Built locomotive no.11 'Black Prince'.

Successful PE scheme shakes up school pupils

AN INITIATIVE to give children two hours of physical education a week at school has been hailed as a success.

The Wake Up and Shake Up routine has been introduced in 21 schools in the district by the Shepway School Sports Partnership.

At St Nicholas's School in New Romney, children are led by teachers and parents in a five-10 minute dance routine that leaves them more attentive in their classes.

"Schools have really taken on the importance of PE and school sport," said Shepway School Sports Partnership development manager, Nell Young.

"It really focuses the children in the morning," she said.

The Shepway School Sport Partnership covers 6 secondary schools, 35 primary schools and 3 special schools.

In the two years since the Partnership was launched the number of children in the area achieving the two-hour target has increased from 51 per cent in 2005, to 89 per cent in 2007.

Monty Python star joins literary festival line up

MEDIEVAL historian Terry Jones will be giving a talk as part of the Folkestone Literary Festival, which is sponsored by our sister paper Kent on Sunday.

The author and Monty Python star, whose books include Chaucer's Knight: The Portrait of a Medieval Mercenary, will be appearing at the Folkestone Academy from 8.30pm on Thursday, November 8.

Jones will be talking about Richard II, dispelling myths about the monarch and questioning if he was the weak, debauched king that has been portrayed throughout history.

Festival Director Ellie Beedham said: "We are confident that he will attract a big crowd to the Folkestone Academy."

Farmers warned after thieves target tractor

POLICE are advising farmers to secure their property after a tractor was stolen from a farm near Deal.

It was taken from land at North Court Lane, Tilmanstone, between midnight on Thursday, October 4, and 7.30am the following day, when it was later found in Eastling Woods, off the A256.

Elsewhere, thieves took the keys from two JCBs which were in a field at Pineham Road, Whitfield, during the afternoon of Wednesday, October 3.

Anyone with information is asked to phone Kent police on 01304 240055, or Crime-stoppers on 0800 555111.

Jeans are charity winner

DOVER District Council raised more than £220 for children's charities on this year's Jeans for Genes day.

People across the country were invited to make a difference to the lives of children with genetic disorders by giving £2 and putting on their jeans for the annual campaign.

Many Dover council staff donated £2 and wore jeans to work, but those who had to stay in their suits also gave to the cause.

The aim of the charity is to raise £3 million for seven national charities, including Great Ormond Street Hospital, the National Deaf Children's Society and the Sickle Cell Society.

QUESTION & ANSWER

ALAN CLAYSON

QA

Q You were born in Dover in the 1950s. Have you been back at all over the years?

A When I was five my family uprooted far inland to Fleet in Hampshire. Until I was well into my teens, though, we spent an August fortnight in the house where I was born along Union Road, where my Uncle John still dwells.

We spent most days among other holiday-makers on the pebbled beach near the life-guard's hut. I was awarded a Dover Lifeguard Club certificate for swimming 1,000 yards across the harbour when I was nine.

One particularly poignant visit to Dover took place in the spring 1986, the day before a tour of Holland as keyboard player with Dave Berry and the Cruisers. That afternoon I saw the cover of What a Difference a Decade Made, my just-released debut album in a record shop in the town centre. It was one of the most historic moments of my life.

Various cousins of mine live in Deal and Whitstable. I'm also an acquaintance of Billy Childish, who is to Chatham what The Troggs are to Andover.

Q How much do you think Dover has changed?

A The harbour is more crowded by buildings. Certainly the breakwater seems nearer than it did when I was a lad. Streets fanning out from the gasworks appear far less run-down. The bomb sites that served as unofficial playgrounds and car parks have long gone – as has that lingering post-war sense of after-shock resulting from the port being half-blown out of existence by the Luftwaffe.

It's possible that my interest in music is traceable to those Remembrance Day parades along the front, all the more proudly dignified since Dover started paying for the war – what with my mother, then a pram-pushing young housewife, having to negotiate a network of queues during the tightest period of the rationing that was to persist even after we moved in 1954 from an East Cliff flat to Forge Cottage opposite the Crown in Eythorne, which my grandparents used to run.

Q What made you go into the music industry?

A Someone, I forget who, wrote 'A dreamer is a madman in quiescence; a madman is a dreamer in action'. The first indications of me putting action over dreaming was that time-honoured adolescent ritual of miming to records in front of a mirror to the delight of thousands of ecstatic females that only I could see. Like most teenagers, I was motivated chiefly by self-love and sex.

Q You're famous for your books as well as your music and have written for The Guardian, The Times and Mojo. Do you enjoy writing as much as making music?

A The answer to this question has to be 'I dunno' because it depends upon so many variables – the mood of the hour, the degree of self-denial, self-motivation and hard graft a specific task requires, how many tedious mechanical processes accompany every creative act and whether the result is worth it.

Writing generates more income and, sometimes, being hunched in front of a word-processor for hours on end is as much my idea of a good time as going up the pub might be to someone else. It's the same with composition.

Q Can you describe what it was like to lead the legendary group Clayson and the Argonauts?

A Where do I begin? The tip of an enormous iceberg embraces being hustled out of a palais in Reading at gunpoint because the promoter found our show so 'rubbish' that he felt entitled not to pay us; important media folk flocking round me and being spoken of and written about in the same sentences as Wreckless Eric, John Otway, Tom Robinson and Elvis Costello; three years of expecting to be on Top of The Pops next week; being supported by what became The Eurythmics; one key member being jailed for 15 months and two others quitting, one of them fated to co-produce Hilda Baker and Arthur Ballard's chart-busting duet of You're The One That I Want, and the other to father one of Girls Aloud. There is so much, I could go on.

PS: I'd like to say a big hello to The Record Players, a combo from Thanet who supported Clayson and the Argonauts on a memorable 1977 night at Margate's Dreamland.

Alan Clayson, lead singer of Clayson and the Argonauts, takes a trip down memory lane, recalling his childhood in Dover and being thrown out of a Reading venue at gunpoint after a row with an angry promoter furniture for life

The latest plasma screens have revolutionised television viewing, but the sheer size of these enormous units means they tend to dominate their environment. The answer to the problem comes in the form of magnificent, elevating cabinets which will definitely enhance rather than detract from your living space. The cabinets are available in traditional mahogany and yew as well as the latest contemporary natural oak. Your DVD player and VCR are stowed beneath the television and there is ample storage for DVDs and cassettes - and all hidden away behind the elegant veneered doors. The television itself is raised up by an ingenious, virtually silent mechanism operated by remote control. Contact us for further information or visit our showroom, open Monday to Saturday from 9am - 5pm, to see them in action. See the full range of furniture at our Westgate-on-Sea showroom. Legal boss aims for world's best service

EXCLUSIVE

BY SIMON ROBINSON

THE NEW head of the county's Crown Prosecution Service says he wants to make it "an example of excellence" revered around the globe.

Roger Coe-Salazar has revealed plans to reduce the low-level crime which blights communities and boost public confidence to lower the fear of crime.

As the chief crown prosecutor for Kent he wants to make the service more accessible to people and ensure victims and witnesses of crime trust the CPS to be professional and efficient.

His proposals for improvements will focus on modernisation, dynamism, confidence and skills.

Mr Coe-Salazar, who joined the CPS in 1999, said: "We are committed to the vision of making Kent's CPS into a world-class prosecution service, something which is regarded as an example of excellence."

The proposals centre on making the service more accessible, building links with other criminal justice agencies and delegating accountability back to individual areas with the overall aim of improving public confidence in the CPS.

Mr Coe-Salazar, who served as a soldier in the Army for 13 years, said he hoped residents would have a far more positive outlook on the CPS by the end of next year.

The former lawyer said improvements had been made and would be bolstered with a raft of new measures set to be introduced in the coming months.

He said: "The CPS is a completely different organisation to what it was five years ago."

"While there's been a lot of progress it's important to state we're only part way up the hill."

"Our particular emphasis is to increase people's confidence in us by explaining what we do far more openly."

"The CPS has historically not been a very open organisation but we realise public confidence is derived from understanding, and that people don't trust what they don't understand."

"Our problem has been that people don't really understand what we do."

Mr Coe-Salazar said links with other criminal justice agencies would be strengthened and that a number of panels would be set up to garner trust from Kent's residents.

He said: "By March we aim to have set up a hate crime scrutiny panel, in which all minority communities in Kent will be represented."

Drug dealers

"The panel will review past cases in a bid to learn from them. We also plan to set up a community involvement panel for the whole of the South East."

"We hope to reduce the fear of crime – and lower the rate of crime itself – as there's nothing more inhibiting to someone's life than feeling afraid when they walk out of their homes onto the streets, scared their house is going to get burgled, or hassled by drug dealers on each street corner."

"People sometimes think the CPS is just a civil servant government agency but we're determined to improve people's quality of life and tackle the low-level crime that really hurts."

"We want to bring a human face to the service by showing that there is genuine passion behind those prosecuting in cases and that we genuinely feel for victims and witnesses."

"When victims of crime go to court in the future we want them to say 'The prosecution have got their act together' and know much more about us and what we do."

ON A MISSION: Head of Kent CPS Roger Coe-Salazar

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living in Dover...

No smokes? Fire will be directed at shopkeepers

LOOKING hard just got harder for baby-faced nicotine addicts as the minimum age to buy cigarettes has been raised to 18.

And no ID means no fags... unless mum is happy to pick them up with the weekly groceries, although in some cases proof of age might still be required.

And how next year's GCSE students are going to cope with exam stress is anyone's guess, but teenage puffers will not be the only ones affected by the bizarre new law.

Here is a summary: 16 year olds are still allowed to smoke in the privacy of their own bike shed, bedroom, street corner etcetera, but are not allowed to buy tobacco products.

Now I know smoking is bad for you, and every cigarette reduces your life expectancy by 60 years, blah blah, cough, blah. But it seems a bit unfair to make small shop keepers carry the burden of saying no.

In fact, I'm not convinced that introducing badly-publicised retrospective laws is a great way to deal with adolescent addicts at all.

We now have a situation where, until last week, once they hit the ripe old age of 16 kids could buy as many packets of Benson's as they could cram in their pockets.

Now suddenly they can't, and the frustration this causes in the mind of your average nicotine deprived, tracksuited, trainer fetishist is a sight to behold.

Confusion

A range of emotions spill forth from under the baseball cap... first confusion, then disbelief, briefly distraction as a particularly nice, blinged-up Escort goes past, and then rage at what must seem a rather unreasonable state of affairs.

And who is this rage directed at? I doubt it is written down in a carefully considered letter to the local MP. Instead it means more abuse for shopkeepers forced to refuse to sell people, who only the week before they'd happily served, a product they are allowed to consume in the first place.

The real test will be whether the new legislation cuts the number of teens lighting up, but it doesn't bode well. The crux of the matter is that it is not against the law for 16 year olds to smoke, so making the purchase of cigarettes illegal is nothing but an annoyance to the dedicated young smoker.

There are plenty of older friends or siblings willing to pay the money and hand over the fags, and plenty of illegal duty frees on market stalls and boot fairs up and down the country. This law risks concealing the true numbers of sub-18 smokers, making the problem worse than ever.

TALK TIME

EDDA

VENUSIA JONES

Dover photographer Edda Venuisa Jones talks to Marijke Cox about how the area inspires her work and the changes she has seen

What is your favourite thing about Dover?

Burlington House, actually. I know people hate it with a vengeance but I see it as a positive, albeit very stark, reminder of what can happen when a blind surge of economic investment bears no relation to what is actually needed to invigorate a town. The proposed ASDA development is a case in point... On a less political note, I'd say arriving in Dover must be one of the best bits about the place: either coming over the hill on the A20 and seeing the town and port and sea spread out below. Especially at night when it is all lit up and looks magnificent. It has some very classically beautiful parts – the castle, the college, Kearsney Abbey, the Dour – the list goes on.

After returning from 12 years in Berlin, what changes have you noticed in Dover?

I didn't live in Dover before moving to Berlin so I don't really know what it was like in the early 90s but I did go to Snoops on Castle Street just before New Year's Eve in 1997 and watched girls in white stilettos dancing around their handbags on the dance floor. Good changes are what I've seen in the last two years though – a real wave of hope is slowly gaining momentum.

As a photographer does East Kent provide inspiration for your work?

Absolutely. The close proximity to the sea probably plays a huge part actually. And all that comes with it: the Kentish architecture, the masses of chalk and flint, the rolling rural landscape and the constant sound of seagulls. But more specifically related to my photography, I guess it would have to be the pulsating remix of heritage and urbanisation – like old meets new – with a symphony of natural beauty and the cultural beat of Europe in our ears.

YOUR LETTERS

Help to paint a better picture

Firstly, congratulations on your new paper, I think an additional voice for the town has got to be a good thing and I wish you well.

However, I was disappointed on your coverage of the Triennial exhibition in Folkestone next year.

This is exactly the sort of thing that needs the total backing of all our media. It doesn't matter that some people don't want it and think we shouldn't bother... that is typical of this town.

Support everyone taking part and at least give them the chance to make something good happen here.

Learning to show positive news

I was pleased to see the coverage you gave to St Nicholas School in New Romney over their winning of the award for numeracy and literary skills.

I hope your new paper continues to support our schools in a positive way, seeking to highlight the achievements of both pupils and teachers rather than looking for the negative as so many local papers seem to do.

pretending that he is more interested in running the country than he really is in winning an election.

Yes he does need a mandate from the electorate and he ought to be brave enough to go ahead and call a General Election.

But it is becoming obvious that he is merely guided by opinion polls and after this week's able-but-hardly-sparkling performance by David Cameron the polls swung a little in favour of the Conservatives.

Brown now looks set to "leave it for the time being".

As a former supporter of Labour who was genuinely delighted to see the end of almost two decades of Tory rule when Blair arrived in number 10, I never thought the day would come when I would wish for their return.

Politics has changed, people are less interested than ever they were and those lazy lot in Cabinet are able to bumble along without so much as a nod in the direction of the ordinary man or woman in the street.

It's far easier for them to pass the odd law and restrict the normal lives of people still further in the name of "anti terrorism" or "improve your health", yet the real issues that genuinely affect our lives get ignored.

Education is littered with Labour promises from PFI schools to academies and yet general teaching standards continue to fall – whatever the soaring GCSE rates seem to indicate.

Police can have all the cash they want to go shooting an innocent man mistaken for a terrorist, but try squeezing more money from central government to put more cops on the street, and they hold back.

And all the time the taxes are gently piled on, interest rates continue to creep up and the every-day cost of living rises for the ordinary working man.

By ordinary work man I of course mean the one's in PAYE employment, whose taxes go to subsidise the lives of the work-shy – yes they are still out there – those who claim disability and Wow! Look at me now!

I dropped 3 dress sizes in just 6 weeks.

I liked all the wrong foods especially crisps and nuts, and my weight kept creeping up and up. I wasn't happy being a size 18 but crash dieting only made me put on more weight.

I had tried a slimming club, but didn't like the group element and their food plans didn't fit in with my social life.

When SureSlim got the results of my blood test, it confirmed that I had high levels of glucose in my system, which made me more hungry than I should have been, subsequently I was over-eating. SureSlim then drew up a food plan based on what would work for me.

The first week I struggled, wondering how I would cope without milk in my tea, but by week two I wasn't even thinking about it.

I've not just lost the weight either – I've also lost the over-whelming feeling of tiredness that I used to have.

I was comfortable eating as I was stressed in my job and the weight just crept up. That's when I realised I had to do something. Once I started on the plan to my amazement I lost 10 pounds in the first 10 days!

And now I've reached my goal weight in I can happily wear my little blue dress!

of course the poor saps given huge lumps of family credit cash who can't earn a decent living because their schooling was so poor.

So Cameron, Brown, and the other lot, forget the opinion polls. Be honest, tell the ordinary working man something he (or she) wants to hear. Lower taxes, less money for lazy scroungers and a genuine freedom to live as you want to live so long as you don't hurt others. Simple stuff Mr B, and Mr C, it was exactly what Mrs T offered, successfully for a while too.

Where's smoking wonder drug?

Pfizer's announcement that it has found a cure for one type of HIV that can be taken as a tablet should come as a boost to the thousands of staff who work at the site in sandwich.

Drugs companies get a poor press generally and I know Pfizer has recently announced there will be some job losses at the site but this breakthrough, which you revealed in your paper last week, is brilliant news.

Now will Pfizer be brave enough to invent a decent drug to help people stop smoking?

It does not need to be a cure. As discussed this week, what drug companies should be looking to do is develop a drug that gives all the benefits of smoking – the nicotine hit and support it gives addicts in times of stress or whatever – but without the terrible associated risks of cancer and breathing problems.

I heard this week that if a decent tobacco substitute were invented the government would not allow it to be sold because it would be so addictive.

Well that's ridiculous, surely it is better people are addicted to something that won't kill them (and it's not as though when you are 'under the influence of nicotine' you are incapable of driving or anything).

Do it Pfizer, I'd rather be paying to be addicted to some nicotine substitute than I would to suffer the pains of giving up.

Let people keep Royal Vic hospital

I beg the NHS trust to reconsider the plan to close the Royal Victoria Hospital in Folkestone.

I know we'll lose this battle, people almost always do, and the penny-pinching accountants will win ultimately, but everything is not always about money.

Having a decent hospital in the area is a reason people chose to come and live in the area.

If it is allowed to close, the knock-on effects will be felt for years.

Don't privatise Customs and Excise

Last week's Yourdover highlighted plans to privatise security around Dover's Customs and Excise seizures section at the docks.

Staff concerns about out-sourcing are well founded and I hope our government – which is always just looking to save cash – recognises that the work of Customs officers needs to remain away from the private sector.

I worked in that sector for many years both in the ports and at airports and I believe all aspects of that work, like police work, needs to be properly administered from government-backed bodies, not through some penny-pinching private company which may not bother to take on sufficiently well-trained staff.

Ali helps to put a smile on my face

How nice it was to read about Invicta presenter Ali Wheeler in your paper last week (Yoursdale, page 8, last week).

I am an avid listener to the James and Ali show in the morning and they always put a smile on my face.

Her story about falling over when she met Hollywood star Kevin Spacey made me chuckle.

Eat, drink and be very merry

Enjoy the best Kent has to offer at weekend of locally-grown food and drink extravaganza

THE rich variety of food and drink produced in Kent will be celebrated at an exciting new event in Canterbury.

Experience the tastes and smells of our best goodies at the two-day Kent Food and Drink Festival this weekend, supported by KOS Media as the festival's media partner.

Arranged by Produced in Kent, the champion of local produce, the extravaganza should offer something for every palette.

Canterbury city council and the ABode Hotel are also supporting the festival, where people can experience everything from tasting sessions to cookery demonstrations.

More than 30 stallholders will be displaying their high-quality produce in the Dane John Gardens on both days, giving visitors the chance to enjoy tutored wine and beer tastings and advice on how to match food and drink.

The aim of the festival is to celebrate our heritage as the Garden of England and show people just what Kent has to offer.

Acclaimed chef Michael Caines, co-founder of the ABode hotel group, believes that the festival will be a great opportunity to promote the county's rich array of produce.

He said: "An event of this size is just what Kent needs. There are some wonderful artisan producers here and their work needs championing."

"It's great that as a county, Kent will have the chance to take ownership of the food produced locally. It's all part of the culture and is really worth celebrating."

FOOD AND DRINK FESTIVAL

Saturday, October 13 and Sunday, October 14
Dane John Gardens, Canterbury

The festival opens at 10am on both days and there is a busy programme of events in the demonstration marquee. Highlights of Saturday's schedule include The Best of Kent on a Plate by Mark Rossi, of ABode Canterbury; Mo Joslin's Farmhouse Kitchen; and a wine masterclass from Hilde-Marie Smith, from Catering 4 Kent.

On Sunday, Oliver Joyce, of Ashford's Eastwell Manor restaurant, opens the day by revealing how to make the best Kentish desserts, with Damrong Garbutt, from Ramsgate's Surin restaurant, bringing the festival to a close with a taste of Thai cuisine.

The event will coincide with the start of the Canterbury Festival, one of the largest cultural events in England. On the Saturday, the arts festival's parade of colour and light will finish at the Dane John Gardens with a light and firework show.

The food and drink festival will stay open until 9pm, closing at 4pm on Sunday.

There will be an opportunity for the public to nominate their favourite food and drink producers in the popular Taste of Kent Awards, which will be launched at the event.

During the weekend, selected restaurants and pubs in Canterbury will be offering a special festival menu celebrating local produce. Visit www.producedin kent.co.uk for a list of events.

Celebrity chef Michael Caines believes the festival is a great way to celebrate our heritage

SKINNY MOLLY

Wednesday, October 10
Astor Theatre Arts Centre, Deal

THE pedigree of Southern rockers Skinny Molly is pretty impressive, as music lovers in Deal will discover.

In 1992, lead vocalist and guitarist Mike Estes began writing songs for the Rossington Collins Band, formed by survivors of the Lynyrd Skynyrd plane crash, and was asked to join as a guitarist six months later.

He has notched up more than 200 European dates, appeared on major television and radio shows and was inducted into the Hollywood Rock Walk of Fame in 1995.

Bassist Garry Nutt was born in England and has played with the likes of Chubby Checker, Cinderella, Tangier and Laidlaw.

Taking up the drums at age 16, Kurt Pietro was asked to join a band when neighbours overheard him practising. He met Mike Estes during a gig at the Omni Studios in Nashville.

Guitarist Keith Whalen grew up in a musical family in South Florida and was wowing club crowds by the time he was 16. He played alongside Garry Nutt in various bands and joined Skinny Molly on Garry's recommendation.

The gig starts at 8pm. Tickets cost £10 in advance or £15 on the door. To book, call 01304 381134 or visit the website at www.astortheatre.co.uk.

MICHAEL MCINTYRE

Friday, October 19
Gulbenkian Theatre, Canterbury

AFTER another successful run at festivals around the world, comedian Michael McIntyre is travelling down to Canterbury.

And public transport is one of the chatterbox comic's bugbears as he shares stories about tubes, trains and buses.

Living in London, McIntyre admits the financial strain of running a car in the capital provides plenty of material.

"I think we should humanise pay-and-display machines," he mused. "Make people collect the money from motorists – they could undercut each other and keep things interesting."

Before he hit the big time as a comedian, McIntyre unwittingly appeared on two documentaries, though not for the most desirable reasons.

He revealed: "Once, a bailiff came around to collect on an unpaid parking ticket and he had a crew from Radio 4 with him. Another time, I opened the door to find the team from Life Of Grime trying to catch a rat outside. I thought it was my big break."

Michael McIntyre will be appearing at the Gulbenkian Theatre at 7.45pm on Friday, October 19. Tickets cost £14/£12. To book, call 01227 769075 or visit the website at www.gulbenkiantheatre.co.uk.

Starring dance legend Wayne Sleep, the spectacular Magic of the Musicals features great tunes from classic shows, such as Billy Elliott, Chicago, Les Miserables, Mary Poppins, The Sound of Music and many more.

Sleep is joined by acclaimed leading man Robert Meadmore, who has starred in a host of productions, including Phantom of the Opera, Oklahoma! and Brigadoon.

Former Generation Game presenter and musical star Melanie Stace will also be bringing her talents to the show.

She said: "There is a lot of dancing and it's been quite gruelling to prepare, but it's a great show which brings together all the best bits from our favourite shows."

"It's great stepping into the shoes of fantastic characters, like Sally Bowles in Cabaret."

The performance starts at 8pm. Tickets cost £22.50/£20. To book, call the box office on 0870 4000 890.

It's all about your father

■ BY EILEEN CONDON

DESPITE that Best Supporting Actor Oscar for his deeply poignant performance in the movie Iris, you won't hear Jim Broadbent shouting it from the rooftops.

However, all that has changed with the 58-year-old's latest movie, And When Did You Last See Your Father, which drew such strong parallels with his own parental relationships, he can't hold back.

"The father, who I play in this film was an exact contemporary of my own father," he enthuses. "They were born in the same year, had an awful lot of similar experiences, a love of old cars, were both philanderers," he adds with an affectionate smile.

The role also brought back devastating memories of his own father's death more than 30 years ago, which Jim admits he's found difficult to talk about until now.

"My character in the film died in exactly the same way as my own father, from cancer with the family around him," he recalls. "I was heartbroken as a 22-year-old. It was a long time ago, but I remember being utterly distraught by the experience."

The film, based on the best-selling, autobiographical book by novelist Blake Morrison, is a poignant account of the relationship between eccentric and stubborn GP Arthur (Broadbent) and his son Blake (Colin Firth).

Seen from the perspective of Blake as his father lies dying of cancer, the movie unfolds in a series of flashbacks that reveal secrets and lies at the heart of the seemingly respectable family.

Though writer Morrison based his book on events in his own household Jim believes it's a story which touches on a universal truth.

"I think his book is a success because it's such an honest account of relationships, in particular with your parents," suggests the star. "Certainly lots of people will find resonance. Everybody on set talked about their fathers while we were shooting."

He describes his relationship with his own dad as fairly typical. "I loved him, felt embarrassed and infuriated by him, the usual teenage stuff between fathers and sons," he says.

Born in Lincolnshire to pacifist parents, his father became a conscientious objector when World War II broke out. Both his parents were interested in the arts, his mother was a sculptor and it was his father who encouraged Jim to go take up acting.

Typically, Jim is self deprecating about winning a place at the prestigious LAMDA drama school: "I wasn't really good looking enough to get the parts. It was four or five years after I left before I saw a TV camera. I just didn't think I was very interesting either."

The showbusiness world would beg to differ. Directors such as Woody Allen, Mike Leigh, Martin Scorsese and Stephen Spielberg have all approached the actor to appear in movies. His film credits include a string of Oscar winners and box office hits, such as Nixon, Moulin Rouge, Bridget Jones's Diary, Topsy Turvey, The Lion The Witch And The Wardrobe, and Iris.

His TV career has been equally successful. Earlier this year he won a BAFTA for his portrayal of Lord Longford in the TV drama Longford. He also earned a BAFTA nomination for The Young Visitors, as well as Golden Globe, and Emmy nominations for HBO classic The Gathering Storm.

Despite demand from Hollywood, Jim admits to being a homebird, preferring to work in the UK and remain close to his wife of 20 years, Anastasia Lewis, and his two step-sons.

Truly pampered in Provence

■ BY TREVOR MASON

A jagged bolt of lightning split the sky as clouds rolled in over the pre-Alps. Viewed from the comfort of the hotel's outdoor Jacuzzi it made a dramatic, if slightly surreal scene.

This was hardly the weather we were expecting on a late May/early June visit to Provence and the Cote D'Azur. When it cleared, the surrounding mountains were swathed in snow, making the panorama even more breathtaking.

The storm, which soon broke directly overhead, was a meteorological blip in an otherwise hot and sunny stay in the south of France.

Surprised locals assured us it was a once-in-a-decade occurrence and we considered ourselves lucky, in viewing terms at least, to have had a small taste of winter in the summer.

The base for our stay was the studied elegance of Le Mas Candille, an award-winning four-star deluxe spa hotel, situated in the medieval village of Mougins.

Like much of southern France, Le Mas Candille is popular with British visitors. Converted from an 18th century olive farm, it is perched on a hillside with extensive grounds and views to Grasse and the mountains beyond.

Many of the 40 opulently furnished bedrooms have verandas with long distance views, but it is the Shiseido Spa that helps set Le Mas Candille apart from many other residences.

Using the unique Qi method – a blend of Oriental and Western practices – a range of

EXPLORE: Cannes is reached by a 25 minute bus journey – if you can tear yourself away from Mougins treatments is available to relieve stress and promote relaxation.

While I opted for a wonderfully relaxing and rejuvenating one-hour back care treatment, my wife had a 90-minute 'time balance' facial, which she assured me was better than any she had experienced in England.

Difficult though it was to tear ourselves away from the hotel, the village of Mougins, just five minutes walk away, is well worth a visit.

At one time it was considered more important than nearby Cannes, and the surviving ramparts and Saracen Gate testify to its power in the Middle Ages. Today, it is a fascinating mix of narrow streets and alleyways, art galleries, cafes and restaurants to suit all pockets.

Picasso discovered Mougins in 1935 and lived there from 1961 to the end of his life.

Mougins is also an excellent base to explore the region, with Cannes just 25 minutes away by bus; Nice a 30-minute drive, and the rest of the French Riviera nearby.

The area is ideal for gourmands, food and drink are sure to figure in any holiday here.

No stay in Mougins would be complete without a visit to Le Moulin de Mougins, the acclaimed restaurant run by chef Alain Llorca and rated by at least one guide as one of the greatest in the world.

On our visit, Alain welcomed us with champagne cocktails before cooking a specially prepared meal served in a roomy, comfortable and elegant dining room by his friendly staff.

A series of subtly crafted, very different, but complimentary dishes – including foie gras, cuttlefish and truffles – floated by.

The dessert was even more spectacular – a kind of chocolate bombe, which collapsed when hot chocolate sauce was poured over it, revealing raspberry sorbet inside.

Expensive, yes, but for a unique gastronomic experience Le Moulin de Mougins is well worth pushing the boat out. It's an ideal addition to a relaxing stay at Le Mas Candille.

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY RUSSELL GRANT

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 - Feb 19)

YOU could be given a gift, grant, or inheritance in the next four weeks. Use these funds for something beautiful or luxurious. Stepping up your exercise routine will heighten your sexual allure. Avoid lending or borrowing money, as such a practice will undermine a close friendship. If you may crave intellectual stimulation.

PISCES (Feb 20 - Mar 20)

THIS is a favourable time to enter into partnerships of all kinds. If you're embarking on a romance, let this person do the chasing. Don't challenge your superior's authority, or you'll get a reputation for being disagreeable. Opening an account is favoured. It's time to start thinking about your long-term financial security.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr 20)

DAILY life becomes a lot more pleasant now that you're finished with an odious task. Frustration with your sedentary lifestyle could prompt you to begin an exercise routine. This isn't the best time to challenge an expert. A new romance or business association helps you to look at life through rose coloured glasses.

TAURUS (Apr 21 - May 21)

YOU'RE about to embark on the most romantic period of the entire year. If you're in a relationship, spend the next month wining and dining your beloved. In the event you're looking for love, you could find it at a sporting event, concert, or play. A refund or grant could fall through, forcing you to cancel a trip.

GEMINI (May 22 - Jun 22)

SPENDING more time with family gives you a sense of warmth and security. If you've been arguing with a female relative, now is the time to extend an olive branch. A new love or baby could make its way into your life. You're excited to begin a fresh chapter. Give an old sport or hobby a second chance.

CANCER (Jun 23 - Jul 23)

Tactful speech opens sticky doors. Your powers of persuasion could turn the tide in your favour. A passionate presentation helps you win the support of a respected teacher. Be careful about making inflated promises to a colleague. Buying a new home could be on the cards for you. It feels wonderful to have all this extra space.

LEO (July 24 - Aug 23)

BUSINESS ventures related to creativity, music and luxury items are all favoured. This would be a wonderful time to find a better paid job or make a judicious investment. Take care not to steamroll over a lover or child's feelings this week. Joining a club will put you in contact with some intelligent, stylish people who provide creative inspiration.

VIRGO (Aug 24 - Sep 23)

YOU exude charm, wit, and poise from every pore. Convincing others to do your bidding is as simple as crooking your finger in their direction. This blissful period will continue for the next month. Be willing to act as a respected authority figure's apprentice. Keeping an open mind will help you find some impressive earning opportunities.

LIBRA (Sep 24 - Oct 23)

A CLANDESTINE love affair could take up the lion's share of your time between now and early November. Adopting an aggressive stance toward a job offer will work in your favour. Changing your look will attract lots of admiring glances. Time for a brand new look and image. Revamping your wardrobe is also favoured.

SCORPIO (Oct 24 - Nov 22)

KINDNESS and consideration from friends gives you courage to take risks over the coming month. Take care not to run up lots of debt, or you could put yourself in a precarious position. A child or lover may ask for an expensive gift. Spending more time on solitary activities will recharge your batteries. Scale back your social schedule.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23 - Dec 21)

ROMANTIC opportunities come through career activities. Keep your eye open for a modest person who favours classical clothing styles. Go ahead and play the aggressor, as this person may be too shy to approach you for a date. Take care not to be too solicitous of a partner's needs, or they could become overly dependent.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 - Jan 20)

YOU could develop an interest in foreign culture and lifestyles. If you've always wanted to take a trip overseas, schedule one this month. If you're already with someone special, this vacation will draw you closer together. A career opportunity could be yours for the asking. Businesses related to advertising, public relations and hospitality are all favoured.

Comedy turns to dark side of TV talk shows

■ BY GEMMA QUADE

JENNIFER Saunders has been making us chuckle for nearly 30 years with Dawn French, but her latest pal comes as a surprise – it's clinical psychologist Dr Tanya Byron, the voice of reason on the BBC's The House Of Tiny Tearaways.

Unusual as the pairing may be, the two have actually been friends for a couple of years.

"Tan was on The French And Saunders Show and we sort of stayed in contact after that and became friends," explains Jennifer, languishing in a plush hotel suite.

It turned out Tanya has always been a keen writer and had an idea for a new comedy creation, which she and Jennifer got to work on over numerous bottles of wine – and the outcome is the new BBC2 series, The Life And Times Of Vivienne Vyle.

"I couldn't believe nobody had done that, a comedy Ricki Lake or something, especially in America because it's huge over there," says 49-year-old Jennifer.

"The vile Vivienne is a person who has clawed her way into daytime television," she continues. "Her ambition is to become Oprah, so it's a series about her moving up that ladder. At first she's a bit of a low level Trisha, but one of the guests attacks her and it's an incident that changes her career and her life."

"She's not a nice person," Jennifer adds with a smile. "It's a black comedy and her ambition will cut through anything, she doesn't let anybody stand in her way. That doesn't mean she's clever – she's just ambitious. She loves living at a certain level of celebrity."

TV HOST: Jennifer Saunders plays the self-interested Vivienne Vyle in her latest black comedy

Jennifer and Tanya both had to do a lot of research in preparation for penning the series, which mostly entailed watching hours upon hours of Sally Jessy Raphael and Trisha.

"There's only so much you can watch before you throw the telly out the window!" she laughs. "Eventually it begins to repeat itself."

Although they insist the show is not a moral crusade, Jennifer and Tanya did want to explore where the line should be drawn between entertainment and human misery. Jennifer certainly thinks some of the practices used on the programmes are questionable.

"I remember watching one show where they had the camera backstage watching the person about to come on, and there was a researcher goading the guy saying, 'Remember what we said, when you go out there, you're going to give him what for'. It was so choreographed."

You can't get more dramatic than an incident that occurred in America in 1995 in the days after two friends had appeared on The Jenny Jones Show. On the programme, a gay man called Scott Amedure confessed to a secret crush on Jonathan Schmitz. Three days later Schmitz, who had a history of mental illness, killed Amedure.

Jennifer says the shows need to learn when to act with restraint instead of exploiting people with mental illnesses, even if they do plan to give participants counselling.

"You can put an Elastoplast on somebody that isn't seriously injured, but the second someone comes in and their guts are falling out, you want to send them to hospital," she says. "You don't sit them on TV and get somebody who's got a degree in sewing to have a look at them. Some things are too risky."

WHIPLASH

Latest Research from the University of Columbia found that impacts at only 11mph causes harm to your body.

Studies also show that the effects of car accidents do not often raise themselves until years later.

One of the saddest things happened in my practice recently that now motivates me to share this important message with you. A lady aged 36, was involved in a car accident 11 years ago, travelling at 30mph. She thought she was lucky at the time, walking away unscathed with no obvious injuries. The day after the accident she did experience a little neck stiffness and so went to her local doctor. She was told, "you have mild whiplash", to go home and if it got any worse, to just pop a couple of anti-inflammatories. So that is what she did.

11 years later, that once fit and healthy young lady was referred to my practice by her new doctor. She had been suffering constant headaches, migraines, weakness in her arm and numbness in one hand.

After a thorough assessment and spinal x-rays it was discovered she had severe damage in her neck, so much so that it was too late...nothing could be done. Unfortunately she put off a spinal check for too long. And even more regrettable was the fact she had not been referred for proper spinal care years ago immediately after her accident.

This lady's tragic situation is not unique to her, and so, this has prompted me to explain something extremely important with you. Have you ever been involved in a car accident? Even if you were a passenger...don't be misled by the minimal damage to the car. Your body reacts much differently than glass, plastic and metal. Chances are you have incurred misalignment of the spine.

The problem in diagnosing such spinal problems is that you can't often feel them, and so progressively, the problem manifests itself causing spinal decay, arthritis, degeneration – damage.

In the past, you may have had a blood pressure check, pulse or temperature check, and even a urine and blood test. When was the last time you had a spinal health evaluation, to check and ensure your spine (which protects your spinal cord and nervous system) isn't putting pressure on your nerves silently and creating health problems now and for your future?

The only way to find out whether previous trauma, car accident or sports injury has created a problem is to have a spinal check up. If you have been putting this off, it is now time to do something about it.

If you want to get well and stay well, start questioning your doctor's recommendations. Then if you want you and your family to be the healthiest you can be, without medication, for life, go and see a Wellness Doctor.

During the month of October our family practice is providing free spine and posture health checks for families. The first 50 callers will also receive a copy of my most recent book to help understand the secrets to better health, naturally.

We look forward to helping you.

It's a vine time for wine-growers

THE MISERABLE summer weather has failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the region's winemakers.

Despite the wet conditions, sales for locally-produced wine is increasing and, with harvesting now underway, producers are predicting a top quality crop.

Frazer Thompson, managing director of Chapel Down Wines in Tenterden, said: "The conditions have actually worked out well. We may not have had a brilliant midsummer, but we had a fantastic April and the sun we have had in recent weeks has come just at the right time for us. It means the grapes we are getting are really high quality."

"The only thing is we don't quite have the quantity we would have liked."

With the rest of Europe experiencing similar conditions, the push for local producers is to make their still wines as popular as the widely acclaimed English sparkling wines.

Mr Thompson said: "People rarely drink sparkling wine all the time. We think it's important to encourage people to drink English wine on non-celebratory occasions."

Vintage

"We have had a phenomenal year with English Rosé which is the rosé wine we produce, but all our other wines have been fantastic. We will have pretty well sold out of everything we have got."

"In fact, we have had more visitors to the shop this year than ever before despite the bad weather."

Chapel Down sources its grapes from 180 vineyards from around the county and has recently acquired another 236 acres to increase production.

Mr Thompson said: "Although our harvest is slightly down this year it does not make too much of a difference, all it means is that there will be slightly less of this year's vintage."

Other producers are looking forward to profitable year.

Tom Jinks, from the Biddenden Vineyard, said: "We are in the great position of knowing we will sell 80 per cent direct to the public almost straight away."

Many growers from around Kent are looking into the possibility of growing vines instead of traditional soft fruits.

Mr Thompson added: "If you plant a vineyard it gives you scope for a whole range of business opportunities."

"It is important that we keep the quality high, producing cheap wine is just not sustainable."

PICK OF THE CROP: Despite the bad weather, the county's winemakers are expecting a bumper harvest

UKIP plans flawed say Greens

GREEN Party chiefs say the county's economy would be severely damaged if controversial proposals by the UK Independence Party were put into practice.

UKIP have proposed a five-year period of no immigration.

But Dr Hazel Dawe, chairman of the Kent Green Party, says the suggestion could only be achieved if the UK left the EU and would invite 'reciprocal discrimination' against the 5.5 million British citizens living outside the UK.

Dr Dawe said: "Every year, hundreds of thousands of British citizens leave this country to live abroad. Every year, the UK allows in immigrants and migrant workers from all over the world.

"Doing this allows us to meet the wide variety of skills shortages."

"If we had a five-year block on immigration, many jobs would go unfilled in sectors where British people lack the skills to apply or lack the inclination to do some types of work. There would clearly be serious economic damage to many enterprises throughout Kent."

PROPERTY NEWS

Plea to scrap stamp duty for first-timers

EVEN as mortgage rates appear to have stabilised, the associated costs of buying a property continue to rise with stamp duty still presenting the biggest burden, says SmartNewHomes.com.

The average price of a first-time buyer home is currently breaking the £150,000 barrier – £25,000 above the first stamp duty threshold.

About 60 per cent of first-time buyers pay stamp duty, and associated moving costs have risen to £11,000, according to new research by GE Money Home Lending, with nearly a third of the money going on stamp duty after the deposit, mortgage and legal fees.

David Bexon, managing director of SmartNewHomes.com, said: "Now more than ever, the Government needs to stop paying lip service to this group of buyers and take the decision to scrap stamp duty for first-time buyers.

"With these borrowers having to rely on large loans to get them onto the ladder and price growth rapidly exceeding the average wage rise, the plight of the first-time buyer is serious.

"First-time buyers need the confidence in this uncertain market to make the biggest purchase of their life. The Government needs to take action now."

Potential buyers flock to new homes show

AN EXHIBITION showcasing new homes across the county has been hailed a resounding success by organisers.

Hundreds of properties were on show at RPC Land and New Homes' inaugural exhibition in Maidstone.

Visitors were able to check out new developments and talk to experts on all aspects of buying a new property.

Buy-to-let specialists and financial services experts were also on hand along with an interior design company which was able to provide full-furnishing packages for those looking to get involved in the buy-to-let market.

Theresa Hales, regional new homes director of RPC, which has offices in Ashford, Chatham, Maidstone, Tonbridge and Dartford, said: "The feedback from the general public was excellent as the event provided a one-stop shop to collect information on properties throughout Kent and Sussex.

"The event was very enjoyable and definitely very informative for all those who attended and we hope to plan more of the same for the future."

BUY NOW, PAY LATER: Experts hope the deferred payment scheme will take the sting out of the newly introduced HIPs, which many blame for a slowdown in the market

Wait until house sells before paying for HIP

BY SIMON ROBINSON

HIP Payment Services has joined forces with property services firm LMS and other leading Home Information Pack providers to offer a deferred payment scheme to consumers.

The scheme allows vendors to wait to pay for their Home Information Pack (HIP) until the sale of their property has gone through, while removing the burden of any payment or payment collection for agents.

HIP Payment Services has launched a number of 10-month deferred payment schemes which allows agents to offer their customers a buy now, pay later option.

It is hoped that it will take the sting out of the newly-introduced HIPs, which many are blaming for a slowdown in the housing market, and encourage more homeowners to put their property on the market.

Jeff Smith, chief executive at HIP Payment Services, said: "Whilst the cost of a HIP is minimal when compared with the overall costs incurred in selling a home, the majority of consumers have indicated that they would prefer to pay for their HIP at the end of the process, delaying any upfront costs.

"As a result, we have developed a unique deferred payment solution which can be offered by all agents and pack providers to their customers.

"The scheme allows consumers to buy now and pay later, paying for their HIP after their sale has gone through, enabling agents to meet the demand from their customers whilst removing the burden of chasing any necessary payment."

LMS, the UK's largest HIP provider, is currently offering the new system to its estate agency clients, and incorporating the deferred payment scheme as part of its overall offering.

Dominic Toller, director of marketing and new business at LMS, said: "We hope this will make life just a little bit easier for house sellers.

"From January 1, a HIP will be needed before a property can be marketed and so getting the HIP produced as soon as possible will be in the best interests of vendors and agents alike.

"The solution offered by HIP Payment Services allows us to take only the most essential information for payment from sellers, thereby keeping the process of ordering a HIP short and hassle free."

The seller either pays for their HIP when the property sells, after 10 months, if they change agent during the sale process or if the property is removed from the market.

MOTORS NEWS

A CONVOY of wings, fins, muscle and custom vans owned by American motor fans has raised more than £2,000 for a children's hospice.

Organised by the group Left Hookers, some 200 cars, vans and bikes came from all over Kent and as far away as Wales to start out, appropriately, from the retro American Riverside Diner in Ashford.

The cruise ended with a barbecue and entertainment at the Footprints hospice in Fordwich, near Canterbury.

Entries included classics such as a Chevrolet Bel-Air, several Cadillacs, a 'herd' of Ford Mustangs, a newly-imported Arizona police interceptor and the world's most powerful pick-up truck, a V10 Dodge Ram.

Damaged shopping levy too heavy, says Chevy BRITS spend £70 billion on groceries a year, but £350 million worth is damaged en route from the shops due to poor packing and driving.

Chevrolet questioned 1,200 UK drivers for the launch of two concepts, a specially designed shopping seatbelt and a boot 'cross' – both designed to save groceries from damage.

Two thirds of drivers admitted not using their boot for the shopping, preferring the back seat, even though this increased the risk of breakages and spillage by a fifth.

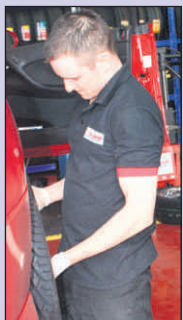

Free tyre checks part of safety promotion

OCTOBER is Tyre Safety Month and STS Tyre Pros and Tyre & Exhaust Centres across Kent are offering free, no-obligation tyre checks.

Dean Marsh of STS Tyre Pros in Broad Oak Road, Canterbury, said tyre life can be drastically cut if they are not inflated to correct pressures.

This can affect braking, cornering and fuel consumption and the environment too.

Tread levels under 1.6mm can incur immediate fines of up to £2,500 and three penalty points.

ALLURING: The Alfa Romeo Spider is still a stunner when it comes to look and although still flawed, the latest incarnation is better made than its predecessor

'Drophead' gorgeous Spider weaves its web

FORTY years on from its original star turn in the classic movie 'The Graduate', the Alfa Spider is even more of a head turner.

The latest generation of the archetypal Italian roadster is also a far better ownership proposition – it is much better made and should be more reliable.

Along with 'drophead' gorgeous looks, there is an interior to match, with classy alloy touches, solid and well-arranged switchgear and beautiful leather seats.

Then again, this fiery Italian starlet is not without flaws: the new Spider suffers from the dreaded 'scuttle shake', a flexing of the bodywork caused by chopping the roof off the Brera coupe on which the Spider is based.

Don't worry, the car is perfectly safe, but it makes the car fidgety on poorly-maintained roads.

It is a shame, because the Spider is a good drive otherwise; the grip is sharp, the steering responsive and the 2.2-litre petrol version, as tested here, possesses a typically fabulous free revving Alfa engine and nice precise gearbox.

On the down side, this unit does not endow the Spider with sparkling pace and purists will also whinge about the front-wheel drive layout for this car and the other cooking version, the 2.4 diesel, though the 3.2 V6 Q4 four-wheel drive flagship should shut them up.

Back on the credit side though, Alfa has done well to provide so much stowage space: a decent boot, lockers behind the seats as well as space on top of these, seat back pockets, a glove compartment and a centre-locker-cum-cooler.

Hood up or down, the Spider also looks terrific, though the topless look edges it by virtue of the neat nacelles behind the seats after the fully-electric hood has slotted itself out of sight.

I also liked the car's top-down manners; a Perspex windshield sits behind the seat headrests, preserving the car's looks and doing a far better job of controlling wind buffeting than the intrusive mesh screens favoured by many rivals.

Sure, the Spider is flawed, but your heart goes out to it.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

BEST-SELLING BUDGET MOTORS

CAR buyers of 10 years ago would be astonished by how far their money now goes at the budget end of the market. And we are not talking old technology here either. All three of our chosen bargains are bang up to date, drive well, have a reputation for reliability and come with a decent spec, making them perfect city cars, second cars or dependable runabouts for new drivers in the family. Despite their compact 'footprints' on the road, this modest trio are also relatively spacious and flexible inside.

FIAT PANDA

FIAT'S baby was European Car of the Year at launch in 2004. It proved a space-efficient interior does not have to result in a dull utilitarian exterior – the Panda could function as a van, but looks far more interesting. The distinctive five-door Italian is also fun to drive, cheap to insure and costs peanuts to run, yet features cutting-edge technology.

DAIHATSU CHARADE

TOYOTA'S subsidiary has shown it means business lately, with some highly-proficient budget models. The three and five-door Charade city car is one of them. It features the latest in a series of powerful yet economical three-cylinder Daihatsu engines. Ally that with bags of room, a good ride and a reputation for bulletproof reliability and you have the perfect runabout.

KIA PICANTO

KOREA'S Kia has become one of the fastest-growing car brands in the UK. The five-door Picanto is the epitome of this rapid revolution, with its cheeky looks and generous spec; even the entry-level GS comes with steering wheel adjustment, remote central locking, ABS, front electric windows, split folding seats and a radio/CD player.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Desks swamped with food, paper and photos

WORKERS' desks are being swamped with unfiled documents, food, soft toys and photos of family and friends.

The claim comes after a survey carried out by Toshiba as part of its campaign for more responsible printing and intelligent filing in the workplace.

Sixty-four per cent of those quizzed confessed to having huge piles of unfiled paper on their desk among other non-work-related items.

The worst culprits for paper hoarding were professionals in the retail, distribution and transport industries whereas manufacturing office workers appear to be the nation's tidiest.

SHOP 'TIL YOU DROP: Despite interest rate rises and uncertain financial markets, consumer spending is above average but is set to slow, says the CBI

We continue to be a nation of shoppers

HIGH street spending across the South East has continued to grow during September – despite five interest rate rises in a year.

The findings come in the CBI retail survey, which reveals the upturn despite the recent crisis of confidence in the financial markets.

But it was not good news for booksellers after Harry Potter's summer magic and bumper sales of JK Rowling's final installment in the series died off to leave them facing a dramatic decrease in sales, as booksellers and stationers recorded the weakest sales balance – the difference between the percentage of retailers reporting an increase and those reporting a decrease – in the 23-year history of the survey (down 77 per cent).

■ BY ED HILL

Covering more than 20,000 outlets and 40 per cent of retail jobs, the CBI Distributive Trades Survey saw the trend for slower growth in retail sales seen since May continue.

Director of CBI South East Malcolm Hyde said: "Overall, retailers will be relieved to see that the troubles on the financial markets didn't have a serious impact on consumer spending in September. However, four months of modest spending growth prove that higher interest rates are continuing to have an effect.

"Some retailers are faring worse than others and the fierce competition makes pricing critical. Sales of big ticket items such as large electrical and consumer durables, which tend to be linked to the housing market, have been hit.

"Others selling furnishings and DIY have done better, which suggests people are improving where they live rather than moving house.

"The Bank of England needs to keep an eye on future confidence, which risks being dented further as a result of increased uncertainty about the economic outlook into 2008."

Thirty-seven per cent of retailers reported that sales had risen on a year ago, against 25 per cent that said they were down. The resulting balance of plus 12 per cent falls short of pre-financial turmoil expectations (plus 17 per cent) and was the lowest balance this year.

This sales growth nevertheless remains above the average rate recorded during the second half of 2006. Retailers also thought sales were around average for the time of year and expect the more moderate growth in sales to be sustained into October.

Fisk victim of best boss curse

THE curse of the Manager of the Month award struck again as Paul Fisk's side came crashing back down to earth after their win against Dover, with a 5-0 defeat against Arundel at the Reachfields.

The game started badly with Arundel going ahead on four minutes through Mike Hockett. The same player also netted the fifth and last goal of the game.

This result means that Hythe are now out of the FA Vase, but they are in action in the FA Cup with a game this week against Ware of the Ryman North Division at home.

Caretaker managers Iffy Onoura and Mick Docherty talk about the club

Dominant Deal storm into next round of vase

DEAL Town progressed to the next round of the FA Vase after a convincing 5-1 victory over Chertsey Town.

Town opened the scoring on 15 minutes with a strike from Mark Pollard.

Deal doubled their lead minutes later with a goal from Danny Smith, giving them a 2-0 half-time lead.

Pollard and Smith scored again in the second half and Dave Bathgate completed the scoring from a spot-kick.

Manager Derek Hares said: "The scoreline didn't reflect the game to be fair, it was a hard game but we played well."

"We took our chances and it is nice to progress to the next round of the FA Vase after the disappointment in the FA Cup."

"So far this season we have done well, but I am a little disappointed to lose three league games."

"We will play Thamesmead and Faversham in the cup this week and I am looking forward to that competition."

THAT'S BETTER: Andy Hessenthaler's (pictured) Dover rebounded from two cup defeats on the trot to win through to the next round of the FA Vase against Potters Bar

'Like I said, all good clubs bounce back'

AFTER two consecutive cup defeats Andy Hessenthaler's Dover bounced back to winning ways, with a comfortable victory over Potters Bar and progressed to the next round of the FA Trophy.

Hessenthaler said: "It was a good win, but not a great performance, but we have bounced back after two consecutive cup defeats, which is good. Like I said, all good teams bounce back."

"It was comfortable and we were 2-0 up at half-time thanks to Craig Cloke, who surprised everyone with his return from injury."

"He did so well in training and I decided he would start today and it turned out to be an inspired decision."

The Whites started the game quickly hoping to banish their last two results to a distant memory and opened the scoring on seven minutes through striker Frannie Collin.

The surprise return of Cloke was influential in the goal. He knocked down a ball kicked up field by James Rogers and Collin was on hand to fire a volley into the bottom corner of the net.

Potters Bar had a chance to level minutes later but Darryl Wilson couldn't direct his over head kick goal wards.

Dover increased their lead mid way through the first half when a cross by Rogers found Cloke and his diving header found the top corner. It marked a successful return for the defender, playing in an attacking midfield role on Saturday.

Collin had another chance to increase the lead to three before the break but his shot went marginally wide of the post.

At half-time Dover Athletic Supporters Trust presented the club with a cheque for £1,000 as an initial contribution towards the fund for the rebuilding of the club's social facilities.

Chairman of the trust, Ms Ellender, said: "The cost of the new facilities will be massive for a club of this size, but if our fantastic fan base gets behind the project, I feel sure that we can achieve this goal."

In the second half, Athletic continued to put pressure on the Potters Bar goal and the pressure paid off as Collin netted his second and Dover's third. A low cross into the area by Rogers was met by the sliding striker who poked the ball into the net.

Collin had two great chances to make it four late on, but both his shots went over the bar.

Hessenthaler added: "We have a tough game in the league against Whyteleafe this week. I have had them watched and they are a good side. My main objective is the league, so we will hope to carry on our unbeaten run in that game."

Dover will face Maldon or Croydon Athletic in the next round of the FA Trophy in two weeks.

PRESSURE: Quick lineout play by Dover led to first try against Old Mid-Whitgiftians

Dover jumping up the league

NEWLY-promoted Dover are climbing the league after another comfortable win, this time over the South Croydon-based Old Mid-Whitgiftians.

The opening eight minutes were a nightmare for Dover as they conceded seven penalties, but only two of which were converted by the home side's outside-half.

Dover soaked up the pressure and their first score came in the 18th minute.

Ed Close fed Jamie Townley for a quick lineout from within Dover's half. Lee Tonks juggled the ball for 20 metres before he was able to supply Ben Sedgwick with the finish.

Old Mids responded from another penalty which gave them a slim lead.

The game turned when Beaumont capitalised on some excellent forward play and he waltzed his way through the back line to score under the posts and convert.

Dover's confidence increased and just prior to half-time, inside-half Ben Murray broke from a maul and ran 20 metres on the blind to score another try, which was again converted.

The second half opened with an immediate score by Dover. A lineout was won in the Mids half and the ball was spread through numerous hands for Sedgwick to score in the corner.

Further pressure was placed on the home side and a strike on the five-metre line saw Gus Surendorff break from the base and crash over the line and the conversion followed. Old Mids response was spirited but it was too little too late for the Croydon based side.

The final try, and best of the day, was scored by Dover with some excellent handling along the back line with Sedgwick grabbing his third try.

This result now moves Dover into second in the league.

Late winner sees Invicta move up

FOOTBALL

■ BY TOM HOWARD

Folkestone Invicta 1 Leyton 0

A THIRD league win in a row saw Folkestone Invicta's unbeaten run stretch to nine games and with it a rise to eighth in the Ryman Premier League.

It was a game of very few chances as both defences were on top in the first half and they managed to break down any attacking threats.

It took until the last 10 minutes of the match for the deadlock to be broken, when a free-kick floated into the box by Roland Edge found the head of James Everitt, who thumped the ball into the top corner.

Neil Cugley said: "It was a workmanlike performance but I am pleased with the win. We have carried on our unbeaten run and are now eighth in the league, the highest we have ever been.

"The disappointing thing is we have not played that well yet but we just keep grinding out victories.

"We looked dangerous from free-kicks all afternoon and in a way I was disappointed that we were unable to put one of those chances away. The balls into the box from Edge particularly caused problems for the Leyton defence.

"The unbeaten run of nine games is a great achievement, it is most definitely one of the best runs the club has had in recent history."

Folkestone played last night against AFC Wimbledon, with Cugley hoping to continue his side's unbeaten run.

He said: "We will just go out and enjoy ourselves – it will be nice to play in front of a big crowd. We have no real injury worries at the moment so we can give a good showing against Wimbledon."

This weekend, Invicta are in action in the FA Cup when they face Hillingdon Borough at the Buzzlines Stadium.

WORKMANLIKE: Invicta's late goal secured them their highest ever position of eighth in the Ryman Premier League

Bulls trample league leaders

RUGBY

Aylesford 11 Deal & Betteshanger 5

DEAL & Betteshanger's winning run came to an end with defeat against a resurgent Aylesford side.

A single try from Tom Best was all the visitors had to show for a game where the home side dominated for long periods.

Deal came into the game full of confidence as league leaders after four consecutive wins in London South East Three.

They must have felt win number five was on its way when they took an early lead.

A high kick across the width of the pitch was collected and fed to Tom Best. The winger executed a perfect grubber kick which confused the defence and allowed Best to collect and run over for a try.

After the conversion was missed, Aylesford replied quickly and cut the deficit to two points with a successful penalty kick from Mitch Brown.

The Bulls controlled possession but failed to increase their points tally as Brown missed several penalties.

Midway through the second half,

AT HOME: Aylesford Bulls (red and blue) dominated long periods of the match against Deal & Betteshanger

Aylesford finally broke through to score a try through prop forward Karl Hutchings which gave them the lead.

Brown missed the conversion and the score remained 8-5 to the hosts.

Deal & Betteshanger were under pressure and against a determined Aylesford defence, found it difficult to create clear-cut chances.

In the final minutes, a successful Brown penalty put the game beyond Deal's reach.

Deal were fortunate the margin of victory was not larger as the Bulls threatened but were often let down by the final ball.

Despite the defeat, Deal are in third place and a single point behind Old Dunstonians at the top of the table.

Their next league match is against Lordswood on October 20.

Club calls on supporters for fund-raising ideas

DOVER Athletic fans have been called upon for their ideas to raise funds for a new clubhouse at the SeaFrance Crabble Stadium.

Chairman Jim Parmenter, has stated that around £100,000 needs to be raised to make the project viable.

The total cost of the complex will be nearer £200,000 – but Dover Athletic are dependent on fans getting behind a campaign to raise money for the project.
